Inspiration

Joining the Council is a great opportunity for me to make a positive impact on my community. It's great to work for an organization like Coast Capital that has a fun culture and that is also committed to investing in youth through this great program.

Fun Fact

One of my hobbies is gold panning. It's a pastime that leaves me soaking wet and freezing cold, but that's a small price to pay for the promise of bling!

What do you hope to achieve on the Council?

I hope the decisions my fellow Council Members and I make bring lasting benefits to the community. Coast Capital is truly a generous organization and I want to help direct community investment to programs that will yield benefits to youth for years to come.

What accomplishment are you most proud of to date?

I have always aspired to a career in financial services and being offered a job at Coast Capital Savings was a dream come true for me. I am truly proud to be part of such an amazing organization.

Bio

Matthew is currently a student at Vancouver Island University where he is completing a BBA degree. He juggles his post-secondary education with his work as a member service representative at Coast Capital's Beverly Corners branch in Duncan.

Always looking for opportunities to make a difference in the community, Matthew volunteers his time and knowledge as a member of the board of Cowichan Family Life Association, a non-profit organization dedicated to training peer counselors to support those in need of free or inexpensive counselling in the Cowichan Valley.
